To Whom It May Concern:

I am vehemently opposed to animal to human transplants. Stop wasting taxpayer money on this heinous and idiotic middle-ages type scientific fraud and enter the 21st century with ideas that are in keeping with the times, developments in computer science, developments in construction and engineering, and most of all, for human health, current knowledge about nutrition and chemical pollutants – in other words, wake up to a world of prevention of ill health.

Purposely causing pain and suffering to other creatures will be returned to the "human" race tenfold in further degradation and suffering. If you do not wake up, you will lose your funding.

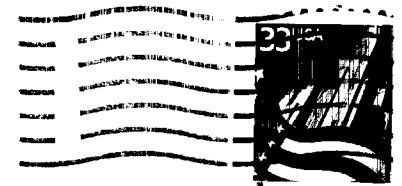

Sincerely,

Marie A. Long
